

The Future of Western Australia

Where is Western Australia heading and what opportunities does the Pilbara region hold for us in the 21st century? Hydrogen, rare earth minerals and gold are the future of the Pilbara region. With a number of large new projects to kick off and aiming for zero net emissions, inform yourself on how the region could be the answer to our country's greenhouse problems.

Tony Simpson is the chief executive officer at Regional Development Australia Pilbara and is an expert in his field. Hall Chadwick is hosting an event for those who want to see how the pilbara is assisting the state government mantra of diversification.

Who should attend?

- If you have an interest in selling products or services in the Pilbara?
- If you want to know about Western Australia's economic future?
- If you want to know how the Pilbara is diversifying our future dependence from China?

Tony will be speaking at 283 Rokeby Road Subiaco at 5PM, on the 9th of December, 2021.
